The game Neurodeck is not only about memory and brain but also about human emotions. Neurodeck is a cognitive game played by two opponents. While you are reading a story, your character suffers a pain in your past and is slowly recovering. You have just to find the way to recover your memory, how to remember your whole past. And your other opponent, another player also has his past and he has to find yours. Will you be able to remember yours or will your memory be gone forever? Download the game Neurodeck now! Game System Brain You will be able to choose from several character templates. Each one of them has his own characteristics, so you will need to find a template that fits your character. Also, you can create your own character using several options. Hearts At the end of each story, you need to prove your brain's clarity and alertness by testing your memory and knowledge. However, your opponent will try to convince you using his Hearts. As you lose Hearts, your final score will decrease. Relations Neurodeck is not only about memory but also about human emotions. To play the game you will need to find the way to remember your whole past. But your opponent will also try to convince you through his relation that he has with you. Can you pass his relationship tests and get his Hearts? Your Brain To speed up your game and get your best results, you will use 3 statistics : - Your memory. Can you prove your memory using the story text and your opponent's Hearts? - Your Heart. Can you use your emotions to get your maximum Hearts? - Your Knowledge. How will you focus your knowledge in order to get your maximum score? Your opponent's Brain You will find in the opponent's description that he is a human being and needs to recover his memory. The only way to convince him that you remember your whole past is to show him your Truths but you have to prepare him. He will use several statistics to prove his abilities and you will have to beat his numbers! What is Neurodeck? Neurodeck is a game focused on memory. It is played by two opponents. You will play through a story which contains dozens of questions. It's quite a simple game, but it is full of emotions! You will need to test your brain to prove it is clear and your knowledge. But your opponent will use his own emotions to prove his abilities

----- The slender cylindrical pink creature is the most venomous creature on a planet where pollution is the norm. Once only an anodyne of extraordinary beauty, now it kills in a third of a second. You will carry its venom to distant planets and galaxies. The human race is in the prime of its evolution. It is time to increase Earth's space capabilities. The most suitable instrument would be a powerful tractor beam. Unfortunately, the plans to build such a device were sabotaged. A rebel faction stole the plans and proposed to the government to send a man to the moon. Forty years later, the moon is a desolate, metal-infested, polluted, property-less park. So the government decided that the only thing that the lunar surface can offer is a place for mining colony's dump. Nothing more. You are about to embark on a journey where you will arrive at the moon, and decide what will become of the ten-kilometre tall planetarium named Icarus. Will you be a hero and save the lunar surface? Or will you meet death in the deadly toxic slime pits of Icarus? Experience a realistic portrayal of the terror and violence during the French revolution. You are part of a group of anti-revolutionary friends whose leader has been arrested and whose group leader has been beheaded. The only way to rescue yourself is to defend the group's secret hideout. You and your team of ten must fight for survival against ruthless, unpredictable police. From shocking, detailed objects to bizarre horror monsters, there is a reason why your eyes get fearful glances as you cautiously run through a dark room. There are blood-curdling screams and an insane windstorm that is conspiring to lure you into a horrible death. Find the missing 8 code locks and beat the clock to save your group! After 9 years, the hugely popular Backyard Golf series returns! Using the same unique gameplay style, Full Throttle has you play through unique and detailed courses with your friends online for up to 4 players. Online Play - Play against your friends over the internet. Local and Online Gameplay - Play the same game that you are playing with your friends, but on your own device. Friends Everywhere - You can play over the internet with any friends on any device. Replay - Replay your games and share the highlights with your friends. Enjoy Joy Climb today, and share your thoughts with the world on Facebook! Who knows, you may even meet another Joy Climb fan on Facebook! GamesCom 2013 coverage 10 / 11 / 2013 You can download Joy Climb for free here (or try it in the browser here!) at Gamescom 2013. German videogame developers Robomodo and Spacetime Games announce the publication of their new adventure game, Joy Climb, a fast-paced, intuitive and retro-style platform game for the iPhone. The game has been developed in only seven months and is also playable in a browser. Joy Climb is available for iPhone and iPad and will be launched on iTunes in August. Joy Climb features intuitive game play, a super-fun music score and a retro look and feel. Players control a hard-shell chameleon that has to climb up the screen to the top of the cave, where they find a colorful hatch, thus defeating the evil CEO. In order to do this, the chameleon has to catch hold of the colorful blocks that appear on the screen. The best players will receive the title of Joyclimber. The game has been developed in collaboration with an illustrator and graphic designer by the name of André Ceysson. Joy Climb is available for free at the AppStore. In August, the game will be released in the German AppStore under the title Joy Climb in German. The German version will offer the necessary language and subtitles. This version is identical to the English AppStore version and will be available under the English title Joy Climb. Joy Climb is the first game of the internationally award-winning developer Robomodo, established in September 2011. Since then, Robomodo has already published games for the German AppStore, such as KittyPop and Space Shuttle Experiment. Joy Climb has been designed by André Ceysson, a Swiss illustrator and graphic designer. "If you find platform games fun, you'll also love Joy Climb", emphasizes Sandro Speck, one of the creative people behind Robomodo, in an interview with Arcade-TV. "We have created an intuitive platform game that is easy to play, but at the same time, where even novice players can have a lot of fun." Joy Climb is the first iOS game from Spacetime Games, an international mobile game studio founded in 2012. In addition to

By The Forces Of Magic! Fantasy Realm: A Land Torn Asunder By The Forces Of Magic! (abbreviated to the more imaginatively titled Fantasy Realm and also known by its German title: Das Land Der Zauber Real), is a video game by Konami first released in Japan for the arcades on November 12, 1989, and then on the Super NES in 1992. It was the first Konami game to have music by Daisuke Achiwa, and involved eighty rooms which mixed platform and action game elements. The full title it got in Japan is literally translated: Fantasy Realm: A Land Torn Asunder By The Forces Of Magic! Fantasy Realm: Vol.2: Another Adventure. In the original version it was called Fantasy Realm: The Land Of Magic and, in the English version, it was called Magic Realm: A Land Torn Asunder By the Forces of Magic!. Gameplay In Fantasy Realm players control five playable characters, each of them equipped with a different item or item-combination. Characters differ in attributes, such as speed or strength. Some item-combinations, however, result in a character changing into a different type that possesses the same or similar attribute values but different moves or actions. The game is distributed in four volumes, each with eighty levels. Each stage has three objectives. To complete the first objective, the player must find all of the four colored balls in level 1, the second objective is to grab the five gold and the last is to get the exit. The four objective in the first volume is to find the three protective block symbols and enter the door. For the second volume, one has to solve the first and second objective of the first volume and so on, until the fourth volume, which contains all of the objectives from the first three volumes. In order to complete the first objective a player must first find all of the four colored balls in level 1, the second objective is to grab the five gold and the third is to get the exit. The four objective in the first volume is to find the three protective block symbols and enter the door. For the second volume, one has to solve the first and second objective of the first volume and so on, until the fourth volume, which contains all of the objectives from the first three volumes. Difficulty

The difficulty of the game is greatly influenced by the amount of points that the player dies in the game and the amount of lives that the player has to start each level.
