Gameplay The story will test your head and your heart. Playing Mystic Destinies: Serendipity of Aeons will give you warm fuzzy feelings but it will also make you feel some angst as not everything is sunshine and roses. So if youre ready to embark on a beautiful journey of self-acceptance, love and magic then press that purchase button and play until you cry. Story Like most RPGs you have to kill, train and level up. You will follow the main character (a human girl), who has her own character growth. You play as a fallen angel, that after having a grudge towards mankind, decided to return to heaven and start a new life. You play as the first fallen angel to join the 1st angelic school, which I really enjoyed. In your quest you will face many obstacles and enjoy many wonderful scenes and encounters. With your friends you will meet many other fallen angels and help them to be accepted into this school. So there are many interesting characters to meet and you will get to know their story. Art I have to admit that I was a bit bit disappointed with the art in this game. The game looks like it was developed around 2010. But the animations are pretty good and the chara-arts are colorful and diverse. So its not a big problem but it should have been. Music In the beginning the music reminded me of Chrono Trigger, but after you play the game, you will see that there is much more and the music is much more varied than your typical Choro Trigger style of music. The music is good but it depends if you are into that type of music. I loved the musics in Mystic Destinies: Serendipity of Aeons. But if you really want to become part of the angelic school, you will have to pay. This game is still a free to play game, so you wont miss out anything when it comes to the gameplay. ## What's new in Mystic Destinies: Serendipity Of Aeons:

Mystic Destinies: Serendipity of Aeons is an artificial life support system that produces wine from grapes of various types, by means of a combination of tightly controlled fermentation and directed, atmospheric pressure filtration. The wine proceeds in an elegant manner to become ever larger than its place of birth. The construct, a modification of the Mystic Wine of the Gods, is a perpetual motion machine which uses the movement of the atmospheric wind to drive the flow of the wine's filtered air. This premise would be the most powerful reason for building such a machine, as we understand the air is the only invisible but conductive means of energy in existence which can move through the world, and so in turn the world of everything else. In this particular construct, the wind moves a perfusion tower which in turn pumps the wine that the air passes through, and this makes the wine as big as its source. Aeons are the levels or powers that exist in the world, where they have a direct relationship to the world's energy. The wine of the Aeons, is, in part, the liqueur Château

Reserve Cordial Royal from the Distillery of the Aeons in the serene inversion of the Wyld. The Aeons are a fundamental and non-tangible part of the world, and they actually weaved the universe with the Aether and bound the energy in the atom. Each Aeon is a universal and force, complementary to another. Their sum is the cosmic energy into which we are born and into which we dissolve at the moment of our death. They are as we are and yet they are eternally different in scale and quality as are we. They are as we are and yet they are eternal, and so to speak eternal beings. Ernest T. Friesz "Twelve reasons to throw all of the furniture out the window and abandon it to a hurricane. But while you are welcoming the wind in with a 'hello' don't forget to make a check of your will." Whisperings in the Night "No matter how mysterious and yet profound, how devious and yet obvious the arcane process, I will have it that when the stars of long ago chanced to align we should take another step on the road to infinity."
