ZUN completed his game: Sun and Moon on Gensokyo, returning to Gensokyo in 2016. Thank you for your support! On May 18, 2015, ZUN had an important announcement: He would be working on the project for this year and sharing it with you all! Thank you, ZUN!! "After a long hiatus, I am proud to announce that I will be working on the Touhou Project for this year. It may be a bit of a surprise (it may be a surprise when it's unveiled, but it will be a pleasant surprise!), and I hope it will be the best of games I've worked on! Thanks for your support for the past 4 years. This year I'm working on three games: Sun and Moon: Maiden of the Water God, Phanta Story, and a spin-off of my JoJo's Bizarre Adventure game, Sun and Moon vs Space Pirates. As you can see, it's a rather unusual year for me. Please keep a close eye on this website. Thanks again for your support!" Everyone, please wait until the end of May before judging the title! "And with this, I am going back to work on the Sun and Moon project! After many, many years, I would like to return to my most sacred project: to bring back the mysterious, glorious existence of Gensokyo that so many people long for. Once again, you will c9d1549cdd

:06 a.m.: Temps are dropping quickly in our region today and overnight lows are expected this afternoon. The morning will be partly cloudy with a chance of showers and snow showers in the afternoon. Temperature will drop to near 30 degrees this evening. Good news is that the snow in the Skykomish River Valley seems to have stopped and we are back to the cold temperatures. We'll have a mixture to the latest tonight and the weekend with highs only in the 40s. The other issue of concern is coastal fog and overcast. I will be traveling up to Hood River tomorrow, and will spend the day in Columbia, Thursday morning. Will try to post the weekend forecast on the web.

When calcified deposits such as urinary calculus's are present in the body passage, they cause disorders such as the blockage of the passage or an increase in the in-tension resistance of the passage, leading to a serious pain or some other life-threatening situation. In particular, it is essential to remove and operate on urinary calculus present in the body passage within a living body before an injury becomes serious, and urinary calculus's should be removed in a timely manner within this range in order to avoid a hindrance to urination of the patient and an injury to the patient. Urinary calculus's can be removed using a surgical instrument, a stone-extraction toy for allowing operation to be done by the patient or any related technique. Typically, the surgical instrument is operated to travel along the body passage and engage the calculus with a grasper, and the calculus is then broken up by an oscillation mechanism so as to be removed together with the grasper. On the other hand, the stone-extraction toy typically includes a motion rod having a distal end at which a vibrator is held and a longitudinal opening at the proximal end of which a head shape having a graspability is coupled. When the vibrator is driven by manual operation of a user, the vibrator is rubbed against the calculus to allow operation to be done by the user himself (Patent Document 1) or the vibrator is caused to vibrate by allowing the oscillation mechanism to freely rotate by adjusting the position of a gear wheel in a rotor of the oscillation mechanism (Patent Document 2). In recent years, however, as the number of patients suffering from urinary calculus's is
